Radio Transmitters at Bremen, Germany; Hilversum, Holland; and Swiss Stations Go Off Air As Daylight Raids Get Under Way—Fighters and Bombers Continue to Roar Across the Channel.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(INS).—Four-engined bombers of the U. S. Eighth Air Force blasted targets in western Germany by daylight today after the RAF hit Berlin a fourth consecutive blow and blasted Frankfurt-on-Main. Specific targets of the heavy U. S. bombers were not immediately disclosed.

Daylight activity in the wake of the night assaults was formidable. Great fleets of Allied bombers and fighters crossed the Straits of Dover in the forenoon.

Marauder bombers of the Eighth U. S. air force swept over the Channel this morning to bomb German military objectives in the Pas de Calais area.

Radio transmitters at Bremen, Germany, Hilversum, Holland, and Swiss stations went off the air as the daylight raids got under way.

"WHEN JESUS CHRIST GAVE THANKS" IS THE SUBJECT OF SERMON BY THE REV. GAILEY AT UNION SERVICE OF THANKSGIVING HERE

The Community Thanksgiving service was held yesterday morning in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church. The service was conducted by the new pastor of the host church, the Rev. I. L. Clark.

The junior choir, directed by Mrs. Joseph Talbot, and accompanied by Miss Vera Donnell, and the senior choir, directed by Miss Winifred Tracy, and accompanied by Miss Rae Vandegrift, sang anthems of Thanksgiving and praises.

The Rev. James R. Gailey, pastor of Bristol Presbyterian Church, delivered the sermon; the Rev. Mr. Clark giving the call to worship; the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, giving the offertory prayer and pronouncing the benediction; and the Rev. W. E. Preston Haas, pastor of Bristol Methodist Church, reading the Scripture lesson, the 33rd Psalm. Prayer was offered also by the Rev. E. K. Knetter, pastor of Harriman Methodist Church.

The offering is to be presented to the Red Cross and Community War Chest Drive.

The Rev. Boswell extended greetings to the Rev. Clark, upon accepting the pastorate of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Gailey, in delivering the sermon, "When Jesus Christ Gave Thanks," said in part:

Once again, at the call of our President, the tradition of our Nation is observed in a day of National Thanksgiving. Since the early days of our nation, down through the years, the Christians of our country have heard the call to come into the House of God, and on this day above all days, to give thanks to our Heavenly Father for the many mercies He has bestowed upon us.

On that first day of Thanksgiving the people did not come together because they had everything. They came together because they were grateful to their Eternal Father for the blessings which they HAD received, and they wanted to reveal to Him their dependence upon Him for future blessings. They recognized the sovereignty of God; they recognized that God was above ALL; they recognized that for any Nation to be blessed it must walk in the pathway of God and have complete and absolute faith in His providence.

Thus this National Day of Thanksgiving was born, and has continued throughout the years. It has not always come in times of ease. It has not always come when hearts were gay, when larders were well filled, when homes were overflowing with happiness. Many years have found our forefathers coming together to sing praises to God when their hearts were heavy and their pockets empty. But through it all they found something to be thankful for—something which the world could not take away from them, because it had been given to them by the hand of a loving, eternal Father.

So we come to this Day of Thanksgiving this year. Many will look around and say "What have I to be thankful for?" My sons are overseas taking part in a war which they did not cause." Some will say, "My son laid down his life in a conflict which he didn't even understand." Some will point to the hardships of a country at war and ask "Why should we be thankful under these conditions?" It is true that there is more trial, hardship and pain extant in the world today than ever before in its history. Literally millions of people have been taken from their homes during the past year; millions have seen their possessions blown to bits by falling bombs. Hundreds of thousands of homes have been entered by the long arm of the government, which called into National service an only son, a husband or a father. Thousands around the world have not had enough to eat. Thousands more have been placed in concentration camps where they will live in discomfort until the end of the war. Just last week I talked to a very good friend of mine whose brother, a class-mate of mine at Princeton, is in a concentration camp in Japan, his work as a missionary of the Gospel having been interrupted by the war. His exact whereabouts are unknown, his condition has not been described, and we can sympathize with the relatives who have his welfare continually on their minds and in their prayers.

In spite of all these depressing conditions we have a great deal for which to give thanks this year if we but open our eyes to see. When Elisha and his servant were on the mountain-top and the armies of the enemy were approaching from all sides the servant was afraid. His master knelt down in prayer and said, "Lord, open his eyes, that he might see." The prayer was answered; the eyes of the servant were opened, and he was enabled to see the great strength of God which surrounded him, and he knew that God was caring for His own. So, today, let us open our eyes to the things of God and give thanks to Him for His mercy.

It is most fitting that as we contemplate Thanksgiving at a time of great national and individual stress and strain we should do so after the pattern of the Man of Sorrows, Jesus Christ. No person ever lived who was under such continual stress as He. No one ever lived who suffered as He suffered, running the whole gamut of human experience, enduring the most intense mental and spiritual anguish, and suffering the greatest bodily pain. We can learn much by observing the times and manners in which He gave thanks. We shall choose just a few of the typical scenes from His life.

I. Christ gave thanks for Bread. As Christ stood on the mountain-side, surrounded by the multitude of thousands of hungry people, He took the small handful of loaves and fishes which had been given them, and raised them before God, and said, "I Thank Thee." It would seem to the casual observer that the supply was insufficient, but Christ knew that with God's blessing it would suffice. He gave thanks to God for the supply of physical needs. He recognized the ownership of God in all things. He knew God to be the source of supply for all the needs of man. It was obvious that the bread had been baked by the hand of a woman and the fish had been caught by the effort of the lad, but ultimately they had come from God, to Whom gratitude must therefore be expressed. So it is with all the necessities of life. ALL things come from God, our Father, and to Him we should express our thanks. Especially is this true in this year of war. America has often been referred to as the arsenal of Democracy, but it is also the garden for Democracy as well. Our factories not only produce the materials for the protection of the world, but our fields produce the food for the feeding of the world. Figures are available which show how much more food must be produced to care for the needs of an army in foreign lands. An advance supply must be on the field; more supply must be in transit, and the percentage of loss.

Eighth Army Crashes Forward

Algiers.—British Eighth Army forces at the center of the battlefield in Italy smashed forward today in a fresh thrust against the Germans and captured further high ground northwest of Castel Di Sangro. Guns of the Eighth were able to completely dominate the strategic German-held point.

Units of the right wing of the Eighth which crashed into the German defense line north of the Sangro River near the Adriatic coast concentrated on consolidating their newly-won bridgehead.

Headquarters reported "extremely unfavorable" weather continued across the whole 90-mile long Italian front.

Activity of the Eighth Army troops who forced crossings at several points along the Sangro was confined to patrolling and occasional heavy shelling of Nazi positions. Artillery exchanges also were reported along the Fifth Army front.

The forces of the Eighth which seriously imperiled the easternmost flank of the Nazi winter defenses had the continuous support of the tactical air force. Headquarters said that the Nazis were hit for the third straight day from Casoli to the Adriatic coast as well as in the Lanciano, Pescara and Fossacece sectors. The planes hit at troop concentrations, guns and road junctions.

U. S. "Subs" Sink 9 More "Jap" Merchant Vessels

Washington.—American submarines have dealt another heavy blow at Japanese supply lines throughout the Pacific by sinking nine more enemy merchant vessels.

This was announced today by the Navy Department in a communique which said that seven medium freighters, one airplane transport and one tanker were sent to the bottom in the Pacific and Far East.

The new successes by long-range subs were considered a heavy blow to the Japanese who are being hardpressed by Allied offensives by land, sea and air forces in the central, south and southwest Pacific areas. The latest action raised to 505 the number of Jap ships of all types sunk, probably sunk and damaged by American submarines since the outbreak of war.

Farmers Must File Declaration of Income

Walter J. Rothensies, Collector of Internal Revenue for this District, calls attention to the provisions of the Current Tax Payment Act, which requires all individuals engaged in farming to file, if not previously filed, a Declaration of Estimated Income and Victory Tax for the year 1943 on or before December 15, 1943. At the time of filing the taxpayer is required to pay the entire balance of the estimated tax shown on the Declaration.

All individuals engaged in farming, single or married, with an income of more than $100 from sources not subject to withholding, and whose estimated income is sufficient to require the filing of an income tax return, must file a Declaration at this time. The Declaration is filed on Form 1040-ES, showing the estimated income and victory tax due, against which credit is allowed for any income and victory tax withheld on wages, together with payments of 1942 income tax made during the year 1943. It is very important that the taxpayer closely estimate his tax due inasmuch as a penalty is imposed where the estimated tax of a farmer is less than sixty-six and two-thirds per cent (66 2/3%) of the income and victory tax disclosed in his final return.

Collector Rothensies urges every taxpayer who falls within the classification of a farmer to study carefully the instructions recently received by him, with a view to making certain whether or not he or she is obliged by the law to file a Declaration by December 15, 1943, and make an income tax payment at that time.

Inaugurating A New System of Committees

A new system of committees has been inaugurated by the Student Council of Bristol high school.

The Activity Committee is headed by Mrs. Davit. This committee has prepared an activity schedule and a program for junior and senior activities. Several new clubs have been introduced. In the future, a plan to have an activity for every student will be formulated. An attempt is being made to revise the honor point system and eventually a certain number of points will be required for graduation.

The assembly committee, headed by Miss Margaret Neill, plans and selects the programs and will make possible more student participation. Each club will be asked to select a date and to prepare a program.

The student government, which is headed by Miss M. Kennedy, has not yet completed organization. It will act as a court of jurisdiction and discipline on all violations of student rules. The committee on scholarship, under direction of Miss Marion E. Peck, will check upon the scholastic standing of all members of council and of student organizations to see that they conform to the student constitution. It will also aid in the guidance program.

Charles Boyd is in charge of class and social activities. His committee is planning a program of economic and social activities for the school.

PLANE ENGINEER PLEADS GUILTY TO DRUNKEN DRIVING

Allan S. Davidson, Borden-

A Bristol Woman Sent To State Industrial Home
at Muncy

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 26.—Pleading guilty to operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, Allan S. Davidson, 341 Prince St., Borden-town, told the Bucks County Court that he had had 7 drinks of whiskey and that he had no remembrance of what happened after he had gone to a cafe for a meal of spaghetti with an acquaintance.

Davidson, a process engineer at the plant of Fleetwings, Inc., drove his car from the center of Bristol to the Fleetwings plant about 10:40 p. m., November 11, 1943, and on the way hit the car of Pasquel Di Palma, parked in front of the Knights of Columbus Hall, causing damages amounting to $107. He was reported to the police, but was not stopped until he reached the guard at the plant gate. On examination, he was found to be intoxicated and turned over to the Bristol police.

A number of character witnesses, including foremen under whom Davidson had worked and several residents of Borden-town, testified that he was known as a man of excellent character with a reputation for strict sobriety. Testimony was introduced to show that Davidson had paid for the damages to the car out of his own pocket without waiting for an adjustment by the insurance company whose policy he carried.

"A man of your intelligence and position would not be expected to make the very grave mistake of driving when under the influence of liquor," Judge Boyer commented when sentencing Davidson. Sentence was suspended and he was placed on six months probation and fined $250 and costs.

Chester Gill, 129 Legion ave., Morrisville, pleaded guilty to failing to stop at the scene of an accident after he had sideswiped a car owned by Mrs. Martha Ann Fennimore and parked on Pennsylvania ave., Morrisville, at 7:30 p. m., October 14, 1943.

Gill was arrested by Police Officer Marvin Allison, Morrisville, who testified that he had been given Gill's car number by Charles Burgess and that when he examined his car, evidence that it had been in a recent accident was easily seen.

Charles Burgess, Morrisville, and his wife, both testified that they were walking near the scene of the accident and heard the crash and then were passed by Gill's car, the only vehicle on the street except the parked car. Shortly after passing Burgess, Gill shut off all the lights in his car and turned into another street, but Burgess was able to get his license number as he passed under a street light.

The only explanation offered by the defendant was that he became confused after the accident and did not realize that he was running away. He admitted that he had been arrested twice before for violation of traffic regulations.

Judge Boyer in sentencing Gill said his previous offenses appeared to show that he had not learned the importance of obeying the traffic laws. Judge Boyer suspended sentence and put Gill on probation for six months and imposed a fine of $25 and costs.

CONFUSING THE NAZI

Many commentators ignore the professional view of warfare entirely, and some experts who are familiar with the literature are less attentive to professional estimates than they should be. But professional discussions of warfare are important to any general estimate because they ignore politics. They are concentrated on what happens in the realm of combat from the grand strategy down to the simplest exercise in minor tactics.

An example is an article by Colonel Lanza in the Field Artillery Journal for November. The author has apparently penetrated the mystery of Russia's field success. He writes with such confidence as to impart the impression that he has had access to official reports by such professional American observers as have been allowed to accompany the Russian armies in their employment of American-made materiel.

His explanation of Russia's success in recent weeks is that the Russian commanders have accumulated such a preponderance of fire power and margin of mobility that they are able to contrive a series of assaults with equal chances of success and can drive in to considerable depth and withdraw with such speed that they can throw the German command into confusion if not chaos. In that condition, the German command is sure to guess wrong. Reserves are shifted to the wrong place. A weak place is left. The Russians find it, and lash through.

Certainly the Russians have achieved the power and versatility to counteract the German wedge-and-trap strategy. Under this plan, the Germans drove two converging columns into the Russian line and trapped the Russians caught in the "piece of pie." The Russian method is in line with American temperament. It calls for great intelligence and boldness. It is the unconventional warfare against which the highly conventionalized German staff is left little defense except the costly mass attack and inevitable counterattack.

POTATOES

A few months ago housewives were unable to obtain potatoes. Then the southern crop came north, with federal support, but thousands of bushels were thrown away because southern potatoes can not be stored. Now the fall crop is being harvested and the country has more potatoes than can be placed in storage.

At the moment the potato market is glutted. A few months from now potatoes will be difficult to obtain unless some disposition is made of the enormous yield in states where growers increased their acreage and had favorable results. Food dealers are suggesting that housewives buy in much larger quantities than usual. They can store several bushels without fear of deterioration if the potatoes are kept in a reasonably cool, airy place.

Here is a standard food staple, available at fair prices. Unless advantage is taken of the unusual yield, another shortage may develop.

Since it was established in 1834, the Hub Exchange has weathered twelve depressions and seven wars.

Inspect the potatoes carefully, sorting for immediate consumption those that are bruised. Then store the others in a dark place in the cellar, off the floor (to permit air circulation) and in a temperature ranging between 40 and 60 degrees.

has really been, and continues to be. Through it all, we have the assurance that none of our men are hungry, that our boys in foreign fields are well fed, that we are able to help the starving of other lands, and still have sufficient to meet our daily needs at home. Let us thank God for the bread, the food, the necessities which He has so abundantly provided for us!

II. Christ thanked God for The Word.

A most interesting passage of scripture is found in the 11th chapter of Matthew's Gospel, where Christ, after having pronounced doom upon the cities which rejected Him, turned in prayer to God and said, "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and understanding and hast revealed them unto babes." We will pass over the many fascinating implications of this text and notice only the emphasis of Christ, "I thank Thee that Thou hast REVEALED these things." What a blessing it is to have in our possession the eternal Word of God, given unto man to be a light unto his path and a lamp unto his feet!

What a blessing to have in this day of unrest and change, the unchangeable Word of God, which has endured the test of time and the storms of the years; which is covered with the blood of the martyrs, and preserved for us by the strong arm of our Heavenly Father. What a comfort to hear in our ears those words of cheer in a time of sorrow!

What a joy to hear those words of comfort in a time of distress! What a privilege to read those eternal promises when our loved ones are far from us! All these experiences would be foreign to the human heart had God not REVEALED these things to us. It is beyond the ability of man to discover them for himself. They must be given to us by God! In a letter received recently from one of our young men in the service I read these words: "When I feel most depressed the only solace I find is in the Word of God!" How grateful we should be to Him from Whom this blessing comes, that here, in this book of revealed truth, the needs of the human heart are realized and man finds the satisfaction which God alone can give!

III. Christ thanked God for Answered Prayer.

One of the most touching, as well as most dramatic, scenes in the life of Christ is the one which takes place at the tomb of Lazarus, the brother of Mary and Martha. Christ had been sent for when Lazarus was taken ill, but He had not arrived previous to his death. When He visited the tomb the multitude of mourners was still there. Christ Himself, touched by the sorrow in the hearts of the people, wept. He then stepped forth to the side of the tomb and there he prayed, "Father, I thank Thee that Thou hast heard me, and I know that Thou hearest me always." After this prayer of gratitude and faith, He said, "Lazarus, come forth!" And he that was dead came forth.

O, the faith that was in the heart of Christ, which enabled Him to pray in thanksgiving for answered prayer even before the prayer had been uttered! Yet, the assurance of answered prayer is ours absolutely through Jesus Christ our Lord. He tells us in plain and simple language that if we pray in faith our prayer will be heard and answered. He does not say that it will always be answered in accordance with our wishes, but it will be answered to our best advantage, which is far better! How prone we are to forget the tremendous power which has been placed in our hands by the privilege of prayer. "The prayer of a righteous man availeth much!" Let us praise God this day for the opportunity and the privilege of prayer, and let us use this gift of God far more frequently and to far better advantage than ever before!

IV. Christ thanked God for the Cup.

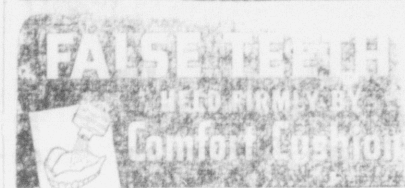

In the 26th chapter of the Gospel according to Matthew we find the familiar words of the institution of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. "And He took the Cup and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it." Christ held the cup before his face, and looking upon it gave thanks to God for that cup. What did He see in it? He saw the agony of Gethsemane; He felt the mental and spiritual anguish which would flood His heart in that hour of temptation and trial, when the Battle of the Acre would be fought between Right and Wrong, when the destiny of mankind was in the balance; He saw the bitterness and the pain of the struggle, yet he gave thanks for the cup! He saw in the cup the long and difficult march to Calvary, when His body, wearied by hours of torment, would give way under the burden of the cross; He saw His body placed upon the cross, and the cross raised into the air; He felt the thrust of the spear in His side; He felt the agony of loneliness which would cause Him to cry, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" Yet he gave thanks for the cup! He gave thanks because He saw beyond the suffering to the glory which followed; He was aware of the eternal truth that darkness serves to make the light brighter when it comes, and that suffering makes more sweet the absence of pain. He gave thanks for the cup because after the agony of Calvary He saw the glory of the Resurrection! He saw the magnificent Ascension into Heaven; He saw Himself at the right hand of God, He saw the birth of the Church at Pentecost. He saw the growth of the Church throughout the ages. He saw US coming in our need to Him—a need which was met and satisfied for all time on Calvary's Cross. Yes, Christ gave thanks for the Cup! And so must we! More than ever before in our experience we realize and comprehend the true value of the Cross of Christ, the Life which was made possible there, and the satisfaction of human need which was created by the Atonement of our Saviour. We thank God for the Cup of Christ which represents all of this!

So, we come to Thanksgiving Day in 1943, at a time of many personal disappointments, trials and sorrows, yet there is an abiding gratitude in our hearts for the daily supply of all our needs, for the self-revelation of God in His Holy Word, for the privilege and the power of righteous prayer and for the sacrifice of Christ, the avenue of Life, the source of Hope. Regardless of our trial, in spite of our sorrow, the grace of God is sufficient to sustain us.

"O Come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noise unto the rock of our salvation. Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto Him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God, and a King above all Gods. In His hand are the deep places of the earth; the strength of the hills is His also. The sea is His, and He made it; and His hands formed the dry land. O come let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. For He is our God; and we are the people of His pasture, and the sheep of His hand."

LABOR SHORTAGE HITS X'MAS TREE INDUSTRY

Lack of Transportation Is Another Problem Faced
By Wholesalers

DEMAND TO BE BIG

By International News Service
SEATTLE, Nov. 26—(INS)—Yes, there'll be Christmas trees again this year, and one big reason is because the boys on the fighting fronts want it that way.

The youngsters have written home. They've expressed the hope that the folks would have the same good old Christmas with a tree and everything, even though all of the family couldn't be there.

Mothers have written their tree dealers and the dealers have relayed the messages to the big Pacific Northwest Christmas tree supply firms.

"The Christmas tree industry is on crutches," said one Seattle wholesale house. "No help, no transportation, but we'll get out as many trees as we can."

This will be the second year the big wholesalers will have to rely on women and kid cutters. Last season women and school boys harvested most of the trees.

One large Seattle firm, the J. Hofert Company, which has been in the Christmas tree business exclusively since 1880, said they are already lining up farmers to co-operate in getting out the tree crop. Much depends on the farmers who have tree land and a little spare time, said Alvin H. Hofert, son of the firm's founder.

The proud Douglas fir of the Northwest will be the only tree harvested by the Hoferts this year. The Sitka spruce sheds too quickly in shipment and the pine sometimes carries "bugs" that bother agriculture authorities in other areas.

Pacific Northwest trees won't go much farther than Chicago and the South this year.

The East Coast will have to depend on balsam and spruce from Maine and Eastern Canada.

Popular-sized trees, according to a dealer survey, will be from 5 to 8 feet, but the market will also offer those from 2 to 10 feet tall.

Special efforts to supply trees for service hospitals and other armed force groups and gathering centers will be made, said Hofert.

Transportation authorities have promised to make available rough box cars and any other types of cars unsuited to war material movement. While there won't be as many trees cut as last year, the markets will get their fair share, the tree men hope.

Christmas tree supply is not, as one might think, a seasonal job, with lots of bustle in the late fall. It goes on all the time. In its present concept, covering cycles of 50 years to provide reforestation.

Many acres of volunteer seedlings on tax title land, unlogged for 7 or 8 years, are thinned out and the small trees marketed. The land with the remaining trees is then traded to lumber companies that can cut 20-foot trees off it in 40 or 50 years.

Plane Engineer Pleads Guilty To Drunken Driving

November 11 and $30 again on November 12, from her employer, Mrs. Margaret Giagnacovo, Bristol, Anna Ventriglia, 22, Bristol, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge Boyer to an indeterminate term in the State Industrial Home at Muncy.

On the witness stand, Mrs. Giagnacovo told of employing Anna for housecleaning by the day and of missing from a small cedar box the $50 that she had put away in an envelope. She also discovered that ration coupons for 500 gallons of fuel oil had disappeared as well as several of her handkerchiefs. When questioned by Detective Anthony G. Russo, Anna readily admitted her guilt and returned the coupons. She later went to Croydon and secured from some of her relatives the money which was returned to Mrs. Giagnacovo.

Russo stated on the witness stand that the defendant deserved pity more than censure. He explained that she had no relatives who took any interest in her nor provided her with a home and that she had been sleeping in box-cars and railroad stations and did not have even one change of clothing. She had been caught before in stealing small articles, but had not been arrested for doing so.

She had been working at the Fleetwings plants until she went to Florida some months ago and got employment as a riveter. She returned to Bristol, she testified, because of being lonely for her friends there.

A parole was granted by Judge Boyer to Charles Letas, Point Pleasant, who was convicted March 1, 1943, of sodomy and sentenced to one to 23 months in the county prison.

Pletcher Neal, Trenton Negro, who was sentenced on Sept. 26, to serve 3 to 18 months in prison on an assault and battery charge, was granted a parole by Judge Keller. He has a job waiting for him in Trenton, the Court was informed. Neal struck a foreman on the Federal Housing project at Bristol in a dispute over wages.

MORRISVILLE DEFEATS BRISTOL AND WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF LOWER BUCKS COUNTY SCHOOLS

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 26—The Morrisville Bulldogs ended their 1943 gridiron season in a blaze of glory by defeating Bristol High, 20-0, on the Robert Morris field yesterday morning in the traditional Turkey Day classic between the two schools.

The win gave Morrisville the Lower Bucks County championship for the second consecutive season and it marked their ninth straight triumph of this campaign. The Bulldogs lost their opening game of the season to Trenton High and then went on to bowl over all opposition, scoring as high as 53 points in one contest.

But against Bristol, Morrisville had more than they bargained for. It is true the Bulldogs won by three touchdowns but it cannot be denied that in the second half the Bunnies outplayed their foe and when the game ended they were but one yard from scoring. In the second half, most of the playing was done in the Morrisville territory.

The winners were led by husky "Biff" Hoernle who scored two touchdowns and ripped off large gains through the Bristol line and around the ends. Most of the offensive plays of Morrisville were centered around Hoernle who when he wasn't carrying the ball was faking another play to enable his mates to steal away for gains.

Joe Elmer and "Toby" Oriola did most of the ground-gaining for the losers, they being responsible for most of the eight first downs. Morrisville had eleven first downs. Six of Bristol's first downs came in the second half. Bristol went into the air fourteen times and completed two passes. Two were intercepted and the rest grounded. Out of seven attempts, the Bulldogs completed three passes and two were intercepted, the others being incomplete. Bristol had three costly fumbles. One Morrisville fumble was recovered by the Red and Gray.

A poor kickoff enabled Morrisville to be in a position to score its first touchdown early in the game. McDevitt's kick only went ten yards where a Morrisville player fell on it. On the first play, Harms gained eight yards. He added another and Reed Pratt made it a first down on Bristol's 35. Harms hit tackle for five yards. Hoernle was stopped in his tracks by McDevitt. Hoernle tried a pass and failed. Hoernle, on a fake, skirted left end for a first down on the Bunnies' 18. Hoernle carried the ball again for a first down on Bristol's one. He then went over for the score. Pratt booted the extra point to make the count 7-0 with less than five minutes played.

It was on the kickoff following the touchdown that McDevitt made a nice runback but when hit fumbled. Woolf recovered for Morrisville on the Bristol 38. On the first play, Hoernle went through tackle and when dropped was on the Bristol 15. He carried the ball again but was stopped by Iannucci after a two yard advance. A pass, Pratt to Harms, was completed for a 7-yard gain and Pratt slipped through center for a first down on the five. Harms carried the leather over the final chalk line on the following play and Pratt missed the extra point to make the count, 12-0, with Bristol still not having possession of the ball.

Bristol had its first opportunity to do some ball carrying after Elmer ran back the kickoff to his 16. On the first play, Elmer went through the line for 12 yards and Oriola followed with four more. McDevitt was stopped but Elmer on a spinner made it a first down on the Morrisville 35. Elmer gained another pair of yards and Oriola followed with three more. But McDevitt fumbled and three Morrisville players were on the ball, it being on their 38 yard line. Hoernle tried an end run but was nailed. Stradling made 15 yards through the center of the line. Two line plays netted but a yard as the first quarter closed. As play resumed, Hoernle shot a long pass to Pratt who caught it on the Bristol 20. Hoernle and Harms gained nine yards and Pratt hit center for a first down on the Bristol 9. Hoernle slipped through tackle for Morrisville's third touchdown. Pratt converted the extra point and the score was 20-0.

Bristol reached Morrisville's 25 yard line following an interception of a pass by Elmer on the 40 but a fumble gave possession of the ball to the Bulldogs. Late in the fourth period, Bristol started a drive which almost netted a touchdown.

Starting at mid-field, Elmer and Oriola ripped off nice gains and then Elmer tossed a pass to Fisher and followed this with a 20 yard run to reach the Morrisville 32. Oriola gained eight yards and Elmer made a first down on the Morrisville 20. Oriola found an opening and when stopped was on the Morrisville 7 yard strip. Iannucci was moved to a backfield position and he immediately gained 3 yards but on the next play, Bristol drew a five yard penalty and then lost the ball.

With less than two minutes to play, the Bunnies started a drive from the Morrisville 40. After a first down was made, Elmer tossed a pass to Fisher who was downed on the three-yard line. Iannucci tried to score a touchdown but was stopped one-yard away as the game ended.

Help us, O Father, to pattern ourselves after Him and to be true to the high calling which is ours through Jesus Christ our Lord. In His Name we pray. Amen.

When it comes to boy friends the motto is "The More the Merrier." That seems to be Jean Arthur's credo in connection with her screen career.

Miss Arthur, currently starred at the Ritz Theatre with Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn in George Stevens' timely new production, "The More the Merrier," apparently makes it her practice never to appear with the same leading man more than twice.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Sportsmen lucky enough to find the time and transportation will probably be in the big woods on Monday when the deer season opens in Pennsylvania.

According to all reports hunting should be good with the herds reported larger than last year. The season will run from November 29 to December 11 for bucks. A special three-day season, December 13 to 15, has also been declared in eight counties for antlerless deer.

The last fish stocking by the Fish Commission for this year was completed last Friday afternoon when 300 largemouth bass were placed in Silver Lake. And it proved to be the best stocking of the entire year. The fish ranged in size from four to seven inches. This means that if they are well that some of them may even be legal size next July.

Harry Pittman and Joseph Haines, both of Edgely, missed the jack pot last week when they made a bear hunting trip to Wellsboro, the Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania. Saw bear and had some quick shots but missed.

A sixth ward hunter, Vincent McGee, had a very unusual experience several days ago while out hunting for small game. He heard quite a commotion ahead of him in Rogers Woods as he was tramping along the thickets. A moment later he saw the cause of the commotion... a large doe deer caught by both hind legs in a wire fence. After visiting two nearby farmhouses he finally located a pair of pliers and went back to the deer. After the wire was cut the deer ran for a short distance and then dropped to the ground exhausted. McGee checked a short time later and the animal had recovered and moved on into the thicker cover.

Game officials in an announcement this morning called attention to a special amendment to General Conservation Order M-310 issued by the War Production Board on June 23, 1943, freezing deerskin leather for military purposes. WPB, according to Game authorities, amended the order on September 30 so that a skin taken off a deer after that date may be processed for the owner's personal use or for a gift.

This was a liberal gesture on the part of Federal authorities toward those hunters who desire to have their deerskins made into some article for themselves. WPB nevertheless emphasized Uncle Sam's need for deerskins and urged hunters to forego any personal gratification during the present national crisis and to place their deerskins in the channels of trade for military use.

Under the special amendment taxidermists will be legally permitted to receive and process deerskins from as many hunters as should turn their hides over to them, for in so doing they would be commercializing only on their work and not on the product itself.

Although WPB has given hunters this special privilege the Game Commission is hopeful that few of them will take advantage of it. Pennsylvania deerskins should all be sold this year, as authorized by the new law, so that they find their way into essential items for men in the military forces.
